100 SHOPS FLOP IN CLOAK STRIKE

Independents Agree to Workers' Terms—No
Weakening Elsewhere.

BETTER LOSE SEASON, SAY MANUFACTURERS

Waist and Dress Makers' Union
Assesses Itself to Aid
Strikers.

About one hundred more cloak, suit and skirt manufacturers, so-called independents, sued for peace yesterday on their striking workers' terms of more pay, shorter hours and sanitary shops, but there was no apparent weakening on the part of the members of the Manufacturers' Protective Association. Three of its members who made surrenders to the strikers have been expelled, but these vacancies in the membership of 409 have been filled by independents who applied and were accepted. Meanwhile pickets continue to watch the two thousand empty shops.

"The association," said one of its members, "is prepared to continue this fight a long time. We can even lose a season if it is necessary. The manufacturer cannot accept the union's ultimate demands—a closed shop and a refusal of the manufacturer's right to discharge his employees—and live. It is the industry, and not the individual manufacturers, that the strikers are pushing to the wall."

Number of Independents in Doubt.

Officials of the Cloak, Suit and Skirt Makers' Union were reluctant to express an opinion as to how far the movement of independent manufacturers to surrender would continue while the great body of powerful manufacturers in the protective association held aloof. George Wishnack, chairman of the settlement committee, said that nearly all of the 1,800 independents would probably have sued for peace by the end of the week. The strikers have said, however, that they would not settle with any manufacturer who was planning to do work for firms in the protective association. Subsequently, Benjamin Schlesinger, chairman of the general strike committee, declared that there were only 200 real independent manufacturers, that is, those who do not accept such work. By last night fifty of these had signed agreements with the union.

Mr. Schlesinger also said that a large number of the settlements included members of the protective association, an assertion emphatically denied by its officials.

Dressmakers Will Help Strikers.

At a meeting of the leaders of the Waist and Dressmakers' Union, at 210 Fifth Street, yesterday afternoon it was unanimously voted that the union should aid the cloak, suit and skirt makers. An assessment of 50 cents a week will be levied for the next two weeks for this purpose on the union's 1,000 members. A picket committee was appointed to select girls to assist in the picketing of the shops where cloaks and suits are manufactured, and also to picket the dress and waist shops where cloaks and suits might be worked on.

Three thousand workers in the men's clothing industry, who went on strike ten days ago because of shop conditions, will return to work on Monday. Herbert C. Ansover, president of the American Clothing Manufacturers' Association, said that a board of mediation consisting of Charles L. Bernheimer, Dr. Henry Moskowitz and Rev. J. L. Morone had been appointed and would meet after the men return to work in the hope of adjusting all differences. A closed shop demand, he said, probably would be granted.

CARPENTERS ACCEPT INCREASES IN WAGES

But One Group Challenges Settlement and Will Protest.

The strike of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters has been settled. William L. Hutchinson, international president, made this announcement yesterday afternoon.

An increase in wages of from 55 to 65 cents goes into effect on July 1, and an additional increase of 50 cents a day will go into effect on September 1. As a result of this settlement 4,800 carpenters will return to work Monday morning.

At a Cooper Union mass meeting yesterday there was a slight difference of opinion as to President Hutchinson's authority to make terms for the carpenters' union. One faction was opposed to the settlement and declared that the workers should receive $5.00 a day. The dissenters planned to hold a meeting in the Central Opera House, 100 West 42nd Street, between Second and Third Avenues, at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning in protest against the settlement. It is said that the men opposing this faction will refuse to return to work tomorrow.

AGED ITALIAN KILLS WOMAN WHO LEFT HIM

Slabs Her as She Flees with His Child in Her Arms.

Jessie Balgia, thirty-six years old, came running out of her house, at 317 East Sixty-first Street, early last night, in her arms she carried her five-year-old child Louise. Following her was an old Italian. He carried a long knife. Balgia made no outcry as she rushed to the fence in the back yard. The man caught her and stabbed her through the heart. She fell dead, her child in her arms.

Before little Bessie Campo, who was playing in the back yard, could raise an outcry the murderer escaped. Detectives summoned by Bessie's mother are still looking for him.

Jessie Balgia had been living with Luigi Ferra for the last month. Previous to that she had lived with her husband at a house on 103d Street. The child, Louise, was the child of her father. He came to her new home last night and quarreled with her in the presence of Luigi Ferra.
